

“Hong Kong Protests 2014”

Panel Discussion

Monday, October 6, 2014 from 5:00-6:30pm

Montgomery Auditorium (across from Starbucks in LaFortune)

Pro-democracy advocates in Hong Kong are protesting outside government headquarters and have occupied major city intersections. The protests have led to confrontations with Hong Kong police. Why are these protests taking place? What are the issues at stake? How might these issues be resolved?

In this panel, Notre Dame Asian Studies faculty and students will provide context and understanding for these recent events in Hong Kong, followed by a Q&A session.

Free food will be provided.

Panelists

Victoria Hui, Associate Professor of Political Science, Liu Institute Fellow

Lionel Jensen, Associate Professor of East Asian Languages and Cultures, Liu Institute Fellow

Jonathan Noble, Assistant Provost for Asia, Liu Institute Executive Director

Maggie Shum, Graduate Student, Political Science

Matthew Souza, Undergraduate Student

Sponsored by the Liu Institute for Asia and Asian Studies. With thanks to Gen “Reagan” Li ’15.